

Marketing Audit Report

<https://www.lorinczi.com>

Generated: June 7, 2026

Overall Marketing Score: 72/100 (Grade: B)

Lorinczi Jewelry scores 72/100 (B) — a premium, defensible brand executing at roughly 60-65% of its potential. The foundation is excellent (a rare solo-artisan 'use your own gems & gold' wedge that Brilliant Earth structurally cannot match, elite founder credentials, and a strong SEO hub-and-spoke that scored 81). The gap is proof and capture: the redesign service that asks clients to mail in heirloom diamonds has zero testimonials on its page, the Before & After gallery (the category's #1 conversion asset) has one example, there is no email capture anywhere, and the free consultation runs through a confusing 'Add to cart' flow. These are copy-and-asset fixes, not a rebuild. Implementing the recommendations is estimated to add roughly $3,000-$7,000/month.

Key Findings

Severity	Finding
Critical	The primary high-value conversion — the free consultation — runs through an 'Add to cart' for a $0 service with no scheduler or date picker, despite copy saying 'Appointments only—let's chat!'. Redesign, custom-journey, and use-your-own-gems pages all route here.
Critical	Proof is missing where the money decision happens: the redesign page (where clients mail in heirloom diamonds) has zero testimonials, and the dedicated Before & After gallery — the single most conversion-driving asset in this category — contains only one example. The 9 existing testimonials sit only on the custom-design-journey page.
High	No email capture anywhere on the site (homepage, journal, contact, FAQ). For a months-long deliberation purchase, 100% of non-converting traffic — including the SEO traffic the site already earns — is lost with no nurture path.
High	The brand is anonymous and its credibility invisible: no photo of Stacey on About or homepage (a face-driven solo-maker purchase), and the Press page is empty image placeholders despite genuine coverage in Elle, Marie Claire, Brides, W, and San Francisco Magazine.
High	No discoverable Google Business rating, The Knot, or WeddingWire profile for a 20+ year SF studio; reputation is fragmented across legacy properties (lorinczibridal.com, two Etsy shops, duplicate Facebook pages). Competitive trust/proof scored 3/10.
Medium	Mail-in safety/insurance reassurance ('shipped insured and tracked', 'documented at each step') is missing on /pages/use-your-own-gems-metal — the exact page asking customers to mail in heirlooms — even though the redesign page already has this copy.
Medium	Homepage hero has a generic headline, no subheadline, and 10+ equally-weighted CTAs, so the eye has no primary path; it leads with ready-to-ship product and buries the higher-margin redesign story and Stacey's strongest credentials.
Medium	The flagship Rose Thorn Ring ($295) is sold out yet promoted in the homepage hero, with no 'notify me when back in stock' capture — demand on the most-promoted SKU is lost outright. No pricing anchor on custom/redesign suppresses qualified leads.
Low	SEO polish gaps: /pages/before-after and /pages/journal lack an H1 and carry boilerplate meta; no BreadcrumbList schema on the redesign pages; meaningful product/showcase images use empty alt text; images are legacy JPG/PNG (no WebP); ~63 script tags and ~290-354KB HTML drag mobile Core Web Vitals.

Prioritized Action Plan

Quick Wins (This Week)

1. Replace the consultation 'Add to cart' with an embedded scheduler (Calendly/Acuity) or a 'Request My Free Consultation' form so the highest-value conversion stops dead-ending.
2. Fill the Before & After gallery with 6-8 paired examples and move the 9 existing testimonials onto the redesign page (and add 2-3 to the homepage).
3. Add email capture sitewide plus a gated 'Heirloom Redesign Guide: What to Expect, What It Costs, How It Ships Safely' lead magnet on journal posts.
4. Add a professional photo of Stacey to the About and homepage, and rebuild the Press page into a readable 'As Seen In' logo bar (Elle, Marie Claire, Brides, W, SF Magazine).
5. Copy the insured/tracked mail-in safety language onto /use-your-own-gems-metal, add a price anchor ('Most redesigns start at $X'), and add 'Notify me when back in stock' to sold-out products.

Medium-Term (1-3 Months)

1. Refocus the homepage hero: a benefit-led headline + subheadline + credibility line ('Handcrafted in San Francisco since 2002'), with one primary CTA per audience — 'Redesign/Custom (book a free consult)' vs 'Shop ready-to-ship'.
2. Build a dedicated scheduler-based consultation landing page with the 5-step process, testimonials, and the safety guarantee all on one screen.
3. Launch a 4-6 email nurture sequence for consultation no-bookers and lead-magnet downloaders (story → process → safety protocol → before/after → soft consult CTA).
4. Build a 'personal designer vs. custom e-tailer' comparison page, leading with the fact that Brilliant Earth won't set outside stones — Lorinczi's exact strength.
5. Resolve the FAQ liability contradiction ('fully insured' vs 'not responsible for lost/stolen inbound items') with a documented, branded Safe Mail-In Protocol.

Strategic (3-6 Months)

1. Systematize a 'Heirloom Stories' engine: one journal case study + matching before/after entry + Instagram/Pinterest post per completed redesign — compounding SEO authority, social proof, and the category's proven virality in one workflow.
2. Run an SEO content-gap campaign feeding the redesign hub-and-spoke with long-tail informational posts ('how much to reset a diamond', 'redesign my mother's wedding ring', 'what to do with inherited gold').
3. Consolidate fragmented reputation into lorinczi.com + one canonical Google/Instagram presence, and systematize post-delivery review collection (Google + The Knot/WeddingWire) toward 20-40 visible reviews.
4. Build a repeat-commission and gifting engine (anniversary/milestone email triggers, 'redesign the rest of the drawer' follow-ups) to capture the high-LTV, multi-piece nature of redesign clients.

5. Run a performance pass: switch theme images to Shopify CDN WebP/AVIF and defer non-critical app scripts to improve mobile Core Web Vitals.

Competitive Landscape

	Lorinczi Jewelry	Niche redesign studios (Bijoux, Retros, etc.)	Big retailers (Saks, Nordstrom, etc.)	Liana Earth, Frank & Dahl
Positioning	Lorinczi Jewelry	Redesign-native solo/boutique studios	Scale, more rings, less a la carte	Curated, for long-term wear
Pricing	Lorinczi Jewelry	Published cost guides and transparent pricing	Starts at $1,500, custom from $2,000	Consult, largely opaque
Social Proof	Lorinczi Jewelry	Strong Google + Instagram	Thousands of reviews and Google badges	Google reviews and longevity
Content	Lorinczi Jewelry	Deep transformation-series content	Extensive education library	Moderate; less redesign-specific
